

The lakeside escape,
private and redefined.

Recollections of some of our own childhood vacations nearby inspired us to fall in love with, reimagine, and carefully restore what is now the Haliburton Post House.

Whatever you and your group choose to do while here, we want you to be both indulged, and at home away from home.

With warmest welcomes!

Introducing
The Haliburton
Post House

A New Take on the Private Retreat

Imagine your next getaway in an unforgettable, private, and completely exclusive-use, destination. Where everything you need, and so many things you love, are right at your fingertips. Ready for you. Year-round. And customized exactly as you wish.

A Sense of History With Modern Ease

This storied escape all began with a single family cottage, almost a century ago. Then a “post house,” built using nary a nail and logs hewn from the property itself, became the hub of this clearly Canadian, multi-generational compound in 1947.

Fast forward to 2018 when we acquired and began to reinvent the Post House as a complete lakeside retreat where small groups can reconnect together, in total privacy and rustic luxury. Build new memories. Enjoy adventures of all kinds. Continue your own traditions. And rest easy.
